Song Lyrics

I'm riding on a camel,
Sleeping on a dune.

I'm walking in the jungle
In the afternoon.

And everywhere
people stare

Why at me?

Who is strange?

Me or them?

Then we smile, and now we're friends

Hassan in Morocco

Nicole in the Congo

I meet a lot of kids

Africa

We look for a leopard

We dance in the desert

We climb a pyramid

Africa

One kid's from Mali

And one's from Spain

Another's from Togo

They're all the same.

In a Moroccan medina

Or a Libyan bazaar

Many kids, many colors

But just one heart

Dance Movements

Hold the reins of the camel

Put your palms together, lean your head to one side and rest it on your palms

Walk on the spot

Wipe sweat off your forehead with your hand

Look around anxiously

Point to your eyes with your fingers

Point to yourself with your two index fingers

Lift your hands up to your shoulders, palms facing up and out to suggest you're asking a question, and look around at the others

Point to yourself with your two index fingers and then point your fingers forward

Smile and show two thumbs up

Shake your new friend's hand

Point one thumb towards one side rhythmically

Point the other thumb towards the other side rhythmically

Shake a friend's hand, then shake another friend's hand

Pretend to play a drum with drumsticks

Make "binoculars" with your hands pressed against your face

Freestyle! (Everyone dances.)

Look up and "climb" with both hands

Pretend to play a drum with drumsticks

Stretch your right arm forward and show your index finger

Lower your right arm, stretch your left arm forward and show your index finger

Lower your left arm, stretch your right arm forward and show your index finger

Stretch both arms out to the sides, lift your index fingers and then join them in front of you
